A

For free

God bless the rich

Bless them with the treasure that their money cannot buy

Bless them with generosity to realize we can only save the things we give away

And the only wealth worth having is the joy of having family

For free

God bless the wounded

The migrant and the refugee who see just to survive

Bless them with hospitality to keep their hope alive just one more day through strangers who in kindness open hands and doors and borders until all are safe

And free

God bless us all

Every child from here to Africa and inbetween

Bless us with gratitude to savor every breath, the gift of every present moment

And dance with all our strength within your rhythm and your music

To be free
